Permanent Bulletins

Permanent bulletins offer your business a large advertising format with maximum visibility and impact. This helps to build strong brand awareness, and delivers high reach and frequency over time, delivering bottom line results.

By putting your message in a single, fixed location, you are able to reach audiences traveling in a specific direction, to or from a specific region, and those who are members of a specific demographic, effectively saturating a particular geographic area. Get even more impact by asking about extensions.

Make an annual commitment today on any of our various permanent bulletin locations. Prices vary by location. Contact your local Burkhart Account Executive for additional information.
